The Beckum-Hager machine is getting scared.

It looks now like Germany is going to respect the Monroe doctrine for the present at least.

DEMOCRATS are talking Gorman for President. Looks like a case of the mountain coming to Mahomet.

An Indiana Judge has sentenced two well known Louisville attorneys to sixty days imprisonment for contempt.

EX-PRESIDENT Grover Cleveland is the only ex-President living and he is anxious to have the distinguishing prefix removed.

THREE days of sunshine, and good prices for labor and farm products should beast our subscribers who are in arrears to pay up.

A CRAZY Louisville negro thinks he has killed the devil. Out of sympathy for our delinquent subscribers, we wish he were right about it.

The great Mississippi river is making rich deposits along its lower course for future generations, but it is taking heavy toll from the present one for the job.

THE many friends of Mr. George Baker will regret his withdrawal from the race for Representative. Mr. Baker is an excellent citizen, whose nomination, if made, would have been a popular one.

The great ship road connecting the Atlantic with the Pacific, by way of the Isthmus of Panama, is now assured, but it will take nearly ten years to complete the canal.

The election of Mr. George Baker, of Taylor Mines, to the responsible position of Secretary and treasurer of the Miners' Union of District No. 23, was a trust imposed on a worthy man. His office pays a nice salary.

A man 200 years old has been found in India. This gives us reason to hope that some of us may live long enough to see the Republican party return at least one of its platform pledges.—Lyon's Commoner.

But not to see the Democratic party do so if Mr. Bryan's leadership should continue indefinitely.

ONE of Hartford's most successful business men says our streets and our county roads are about what a similar state of civilization demands everywhere. We were impressed with the good sense of the remark, but regret that it is true.

The attention of Hartford's city council is again called to the necessity for passing an ordinance to keep the hog off of the streets. Many of them bit the stepping stones slightly, but a few of them prefer to swim across the streets, and the spectacle of hogs swimming across our principal streets, discredits our public improvements.

INNOCENT comments sometimes contain more philosphy than intended ones. Two Hartford matrons were discussing a few days ago the question of useful, but cheap household articles. Mrs. A. described to Mrs. B. a certain very useful article and said she had seen it at Mr. C's store. "Well, well," commented Mrs. B., "I always forget about Mr. C's store. He don't advertise you know, but I must have one of those."

C. C. CALHOUN, Democratic lawyer, has been allowed an attorney fee of $71,000 for collecting the million-dollar war claim from the Federal government. Under the law existing when Clifton J. Pratt was sworn in as Attorney-General, it was his duty to collect all debts due the State and for which he could not be paid for the collection of any one debt more than $3,000. But Pratt was a Republican and in order to

STRANGE

Story of a Missouri Man, of a Long Search for His Kidnapped Wife.

Located at McHenry and the Abductor Arrested and Lodged in Jail Tuesday.

Tuesday morning a well-dressed, prosperous looking stranger, about thirty-five years old, appeared in Judge Miller's office and told that official a story that sounds more like a fairy tale than a story from real life.

He said that his name was Selle Douglas, that his home was Columbia, Missouri, and asked for a warrant of arrest for Jack King, whom he charged with taking, by force, custody of his wife, Lovie Douglas, from his home at Columbia, Missouri, in September, 1911, and detaining her against her will since that date.

Sheriff Cal P. Keown and Jailer T. H. Black left at noon for McHenry to arrest King, who was an employee of the Central Coal & Iron Company there. When the officers arrested King, the woman fainted, but was revived without difficulty and the officers rescued her from King and the woman about nine o'clock.

Mr. Sam Morton returned home from Hartford Saturday.

There is talk of changing our mail route from here to South Carrollton, instead of McHenry.

Misses Ethel and Lela Hunter and Mr. Wayne Overholt went to Central City Tuesday.

DOYLE May Wear Wings.

Chicago, March 17.—The call has gone forth from Zion City to all the members of the faithful within a radius of 100 miles of Chicago to be at Shiloh Tabernacle Monday night. A great special meeting has been arranged. John Alexander Doyle, in his capacity as general overseer of the Christian Catholic church in Zion, announced that he will not preside. Instead, he will sit as Elijah, the Restorer. He promised to come out with a strong affirmation of the Elijah platform of 1901. He may even descend to wear his wings.

There are a few doctrinal points which he intends unravelling for the benefit of doubting Thomases of his flock. Then, he announces, he will tell about the completed arrangements for the proposed invasion of New York. There will be the final promulgation of the plan to turn loose a horde of apostles in Gotham who are to make a house-to-house canvass until 4,000,000 persons have been invited to join Doyle and pay tithes.

Doweys says: "The times of restoration are at hand. Much lies before us on this solid land, but much more lies before us in the lands beyond the seas."

Sellie fully about my galling slavery and the peril of trying to escape. Turning to her husband she asked: "Sellie, why didn't you bring that letter with you?" Douglas handed her two letters. "See, here it is just as I told you, and here is the other one with the postscript, too. Gentlemen, read them yourselves. I am as happy as a school girl now, after all these dreadful days are over, and that man safe behind the bars."

DOUGLAS' STORY.

My name is Sellie Douglas; I am 38 years old, live at Columbia, Missouri, and am a plasterer by trade. On the morning of the 12th day of September, 1911, I went to my work as usual and when I returned at night my wife was gone.

My wife and I had been married twelve years, during which time she had been a true and faithful companion and a pious Christian woman. I could not account for her going away with a strange man and made many efforts to locate her, but without avail, until about three months ago, when she wrote me from McHenry, Ky., to send her $30.00, which I did, but began to investigate the circumstances of her being there, which had not effected satisfactorily when she wrote me again not to send her any more money, as she had been forced by a man by the name of King, who had kidnapped her from our home and kept her with him by threats of violence, to demand money from me.

Having perfect confidence in her as a woman, wife and Christian, I came here and took legal steps to liberate her from her galling slavery. KING'S VERSION OF THE AFFAIR. King's frank story, including, as it does, his criminal conduct, lends interest to his statements. He says: "My name is J. W. King; I am 39 years old, and was born in New York City. I am a machinist and have worked in many of the large cities of the country. In the fall of 1901 I was repairing some machinery in a newspaper plant at Jefferson City, Missouri, and met a lady, at my boarding house, who claimed to be Lovie B. Moore. Her room was across a hall from mine, but I had no conversation with her until one morning she accosted me with the complaint that she was suffering for want of food. Her lean body and colorless face attested the genuineness of her complaint and I relieved her want, for which she made many expressions of gratitude, and finally, when I was about to leave the city, begged me to take her with me. I was a single man, and fancied the woman, so we joined our fortunes together and finally, in pursuit of my trade, we came to McHenry.

"After we came here she told me of her husband in Missouri, about whose existence I had never heard before. I then insisted that if she preferred to remain with me, that she go back to Missouri and get a divorce from her husband, that we might marry, to which she agreed. I offered to furnish her money for the trip, but she said that Douglas should pay the expense and she wrote him for the money, and she would have gone back to Missouri at once to introduce divorce proceedings, had not Douglas appeared on the scene here."

KING PLEASED GUILTY.

King was arraigned before Judge Miller Wednesday afternoon and plead guilty to six counts, charging him with adultery and was fined $20 in each count. He went to jail where he will be confined sixty days to satisfy the fine.

King sent Lovie a note, just before noon Wednesday, asking her to visit him at the jail. The woman read the note with apparent interest and showed some disposition to visit her recent paramour, but Douglas declined to let her see the Scotch machinist.

King showed his disappointment, when told late Wednesday afternoon, that Douglas and Lovie had left Hartford at noon and were speeding on their way to Missouri. "He made her go, but she will not stay with him," was his serious comment.

King is apparently really fond of the Douglas woman and asked a visitor to the jail to send an officer to the jail before whom he might prefer the same charge against her to which he had already entered a plea of guilty, but his bid had already flown. His purpose in preferring the charge, was to detain her here, rather than to secure her punishment.

All the parties to the unfortunate affair are intelligent and of very respectable appearance.

Ratified.

Washington, March 17.—Without dotting an "I" or crossing a "T" even without changing a single punctuation mark, the Senate to day voted to ratify the treaty with Republic of Colombia for the construction of an isthmian canal. The vote for ratification was seventy three in the affirmative to five in the negative. The Senate was in executive session when the result was announced, so that only the Senators themselves and a few confidential employees were present.

Prices of commodities are high as a result of the protective tariff, labor is generally employed at good wages as a result of protection. High prices and prosperity go together, while low prices are producers of destitution and idleness. Congress has no call to indulge in tariff tinkering to unsettle present conditions.—Sheffield (Ala.) Reaper.

A Pleasant Evening.

On last Saturday night the following gentleman entertained at the parlors of the New Commercial Messers. Chester Keown, Lester Polk, R. W. Patterson, C. D. Stevens, Alvin Patin, Cleve Iler, R. E. Birkhead, A. E. Cotter, R. H. Hankins, R. R. Riley, Arch Lewis and J. M. DeWeese. The ladies present were: Misses Maggie Marks, Isabelle Cox, Mary Smith, Martha Bennett, Elizabeth Schneider, Laura Morton, Mary Bennett, Mabel Hubbard, Beale Fair, Florence Morton, Annie Moreland and Eva Brown. The evening was passed in playing "flich," "crokinole" and "I spy." At 11:30 a shower of "cold grub" fell consisting of nuts, fruits, candles and "vegetables." After these had been "rounded up" and "overpowered," the guests stole away to their homes and were soon folded in the arms of Morphens dreaming of another evening pleasantly and delightfully passed.

Baker Withdraws.

Taylor Mines, Ky., March 17.—Mr. John H. Thomas, Editor REPUBLICAN, Hartford, Ky., Dear Sir: Circumstances which have arisen in the past few days are such that will render it impossible for me to further continue my race for the nomination of Representative from Ohio county. I regret very much to make this announcement after having canvassed a large portion of the county. I feel that at the hands of the Republican party, my nomination and election to this high and honorable office was assured. I desire to most heartily thank the good people of Ohio county for their expressions of confidence, their loyal support and their general hospitality while a candidate.

I have accepted the office of secretary and treasurer for the Miners of Western Kentucky, which is a position of trust and honor, is my only reason for withdrawing from the race of Representative.

Thanking the good people of Ohio county for your favors, I am,

Very respectfully,

GEORGE BAKER.
